

Institute of Practical Philosophy
Sixth Symposium on Social Justice

ENVIRONMENTAL ETHICS AFTER TWENTY YEARS: A CHANGE IN CONSCIOUSNESS

9am—2pm, October 19th, 2002

Theatre 203, Building 355

Malaspina University-College

Ethics and Eco-Theology: A Case Study of Commercial Fishing for Salmon in B.C. — Melanie Power

Why People Care and Why They Don't: Some Psychological Background to Environmental Values and Behaviour — John Scull

People and/or Animals?: Environmental Politics in East Africa — Gary Tunnell

Arguing With Anti-Environmentalists — Justin Kalef

Treating Life as Though It Matters — Dionys Deleeuw

Cost: $5 at the door

All are welcome

The Institute gratefully acknowledges the financial support of Malaspina University-College.